urday afternoon at 2. All members and those desiring to receive the sacrament are expected to attend at least one of the preparatory services.

MR TAFT WILL SPEAK IN RALEIGH, DECEMBER 7.

Raleigh, Oct. 5.—Former President William Howard Taft will be the principal speaker at the next session of the State Literary and Historical Association, according to the announcement of Secretary R. D. W. Connor.
The association will meet in Raleigh December 6 and 7. Mr. Taft will address the association on the evening of December 7. From Raleigh he will go to Chapel Hill where he will deliver an address before the faculty and students of the University on the evening of December 8.

Several delightful social features have already been arranged for the session, and doubtless others will be later announced. The association has a membership of more than 500, embracing members not only in North Carolina but also in ten other states and the District of Columbia. Its annual sessions have come to be one of the outstanding events of the year in North Carolina.

The state supreme court has ruled that Kemp B. Johnson has the right to a place on the Wake county legislative ticket instead of B. H. Pate, who claimed the honor. Pate ran in a second primary and was declared the Democratic nominee but Judge Bond decided against him.

Philathea Elect Officers

The Philathea class of the First Presbyterian church held their monthly social and business meeting with Miss Lizzie McComb on Tuesday evening. There was a large attendance which was gratifying, as the most important business of the meeting was the annual election of officers.

By a rising vote of thanks and appreciation the class re-elected as their teacher Mrs. W. B. Ramsay, Mrs. T. A. Grier was unanimously elected president. Mrs. Geo.
Kilian was elected vice-president; Miss Myrtle Little, secretary; Mrs.
A. K. Joy, treasurer; and Mrs. T.
R. Walsh class reporter. The social hour was pleasantly spent in conversation and delightful music rendered by Mrs. H. H. Price and Miss Margaret McComb.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her sister, Miss Amelia McComb at the close of a most enjoyable evening.

Hickory Book Club

The first regular meeting of the Hickory Book Club in its new year and twentieth series was held yesterday with the president, Miss Mary Geltner, Miss Martha Deer of Lillitz, Pa., an old friend of the president, was a guest.

Six of the fourteen new books are not fiction, but deal with interesting travels in various countries.

The hostess gave a very interesting account of her book, "The Flute of the Gods," which has for its subject the spiritual insight and ceremonial institutions of the Pueblos. Extracts were read from a letter of the author, Mrs. Marah Ellis Ryan, who gathered material by living in Indian houses and in a Franciscan Monastery. It was also of unusual interest that Miss Geltner and Mrs.
Royster in their trip last summer from Seattle to southern California, travelled through this region of which Santa Fe is the centre. The many beautiful pictures and curios brought from there were greatly appreciated.

A course luncheon of delicacies was enjoyed at the close of the meeting.
The place cards were decorated with pictures of Indians, their pottery and curios, painted by Mrs. E. Lyely. The profusion of lovely roses and dahlias throughout the home was another pleasure.

The next meeting will be held Oct.
18 with Mrs. J. A. Ramsay.

HURT IN WRECK

(By Associated Press.)
Aitona, Pa., Oct. 5.—Two men were probably killed and an engine-man was seriously scalded today when an express on the Pennsylvania railroad between Pittsburgh and New York crashed into a stock train.

Several Hickory people expect to go to Charlotte Saturday for the Davidson A. and M. football game.

President Wilson received vociferous welcomes during his trip to Omaha, Neb., where he speaks tonight. The president refused to turn the trip into a campaign tour.

GODWIN AND McCASKILL SPEAK AT FAYETTEVILLE

Fayetteville, Oct. 5.—"If old Andreas came back to earth and entered a lynching contest with my yppp ed a lying contest with you he couldn't get a third grade certificate," Congressman Hannibal Lafayette Godwin said in picturesque compliment to his Republican opponent, Alexander Lamont McCaskill, as they charmed the Linden constituency on the edge of the county.

"And you and your infernal cohorts in Washington made a nigger chief justice of the city court in Washington, appointed 33 negro policemen to patrol the city, put brass buttons enough on them to canker the inside of the devil, established four protest courts with niggers to try and condemn to death white men, and your president stopped at a niger hotel rather than a white one," replied the very meek and mild "Mont" Mack.

Mr. Godwin's preface may have tempered the wind to the shorn lambs.
The congressman certainly uttered a timely warning. Had the Linden people not received the suggestion that McCaskill isn't long on the recitation of the perpendicular fact, they might have left with the impression that the "south is in the saddle" and the nation governed by the saddle-hued population.

"It was a wonderful show, the best that Cumberland county has produced; and the town of Fayetteville has been full of vaudeville the whole campaign. Linden, on the very fringe of the county, was out in fine array of prosperous farmers and cotton dealers. The speakers had every encouragement to sail in and smite hard.

"I can't see that Jesus is here," good farmer W. P. Collier said as Godwin, describing the destitution of McCaskill's party for campaign food, used a cuss word by way of telling a story. "Lemme out," Mr. Collier said.
"Wait and let me get at 'im, McC-Gaskill urged his unknown constituent, "you haven't heard me reply yet," and McCaskill held his men captive 15 minutes. A cuss word came in handily for Mack as he closed and Farmer Collier, arising to move out, said: "I still don't think Jesus is here. There is too much lying."

The crowd was an interesting study. The Democrats found it almost impossible to sit quietly while the Cumberland "unarranging facts" was uttering some thrilling fiction that pleased but did not arouse his friends.
The Republicans were greatly in the minority and the Democrats were dis-inclined to demonstrate.

FREYTAG'S ANNIVERSARY

(By the Associated Press) Coburg, Germany, Oct. 5.—In celebration of the 100th birthday of the famous German poet and author, Gustav Freytag, his drama, "Graf Woldemar" was presented at the court theatre, with his son, Prof.
Dr. Freytag of Munich, in the title role. It was Prof. Freytag's debut upon the stage. The performance was witnessed by the duke and duchess of Coburg as well as by the leading actors of the theatres at Cassel, Weisbaden and Meiningen.

McKESSON A WILSON MAN

Charlotte Observer.

Major Charles F. McKesson, a Republican from way back, a Blaine elector and all that, is going to vote for Wilson and in a lengthy article to the Observer tells why. He gives good reasons, as will become apparent to those who read what he has to say.
The major has come to these conclusions after having tried hard to persuade himself to vote for Hughes and keep his party record straight.
"But he says, 'I feel that there are occasions when men should rise above party and yield to dictates of conscience.' There are no doubt other Republicans in North Carolina who feel the same way about it, but they lack the courage displayed by Major McKesson."

uation was the program today.
